Foreword

As a river flows from source to mouth, so we go through life from birth to death. As any section of a river retains its own characteristics, so our twelve years of school will remain a distinct period of our lives.

Many efforts have been combined to help us through these years to a goal -- graduation. Our parents and teachers have pushed and pulled and guided us and, supposedly, we have contributed to our gradual progress. Graduation is only one of many goals, however. Beyond it we have much more to do. The river flows on. Hopefully, we too shall proceed safely and surely through the rest of our lives.

With these ideas in mind, we have chosen the Hudson River as the theme of this year's PATROON.

Miss Rybowski
I wish you the best of luck always.
It's been fun working in the library with you.

PHILLIP DUDLEY

Dedication

The class of 1963 wishes to dedicate this issue of the PATROON to Mr. Phillip Dudley. A real member of the class, Mr. Dudley has been invaluable in his position as our teacher, our advisor, and our friend. We sincerely thank him for his constant work in guiding us through our four years of high school.

Miss Rykowski,
Mr. D. won't mind if I use his page. Thanks for a great year in the library. (Even if I did drive you crazy talking.) Best of luck in the future. Come back and see us. Okay.
Luckalways

Board of Education

An interesting comparison can be made between a school and a manufacturing concern. The manufacturer receives raw materials of various shapes, sizes and colors and after careful processing by skilled workers the finished product is ready for release. The reputable manufacturer hopes that his product will be useful, and of good quality, and that it will be received with approval in the market place. To meet these aims he hires the best workers, constantly checks quality throughout the process, and revises his methods to take advantage of the latest techniques.

So it is with the School Trustees. Our raw product too comes in various shapes, sizes, and colors, known as kindergarteners. We have a long manufacturing period, usually twelve years, and during this period we hire the best workers to process the raw material. To be sure that our product is of the best, we maintain a rigid inspection program. The manufacturer calls this "quality control"; we call it examination.

The processing cycle is now complete for our 1963 models and they are ready for "product release." We hope they too will be useful, and of the best quality. We think they are our best to date. We're proud of them.

Principal's Message

Greetings to the PATROON staff and Seniors:

This excellent annual is a credit to the PATROON staff and the school.

A commencement speaker recently warned Rhinebeck graduates of the perils of crossing the river. You should be able to cross over the bridge, well constructed by your labors and the plans of your parents and teachers.

When you reach the other side, all of the adventure of climbing those rugged mountains awaits you. The occasional slip should make you more determined. When one trail is inaccessible, find another.

When you reach the peak, our cheers for your success will echo through the valley.

Sincerely,

Lawrence A. Gilmour

Band

Acquiring A ratings at the annual New York State Music Festival is becoming a habit of the school music department. For several years the Varsity Choir has received top ratings; last year, the band also went to the contest and returned with an A.

In addition to these performances, the band and the choir appear at the Christmas and the Spring Concerts. The choir usually tapes a short program for radio broadcast during the Christmas season, while the band takes part in parades, and entertains on the night of the senior play and at graduation exercises.

When these two groups go to the state contests in the spring, individual instrumentalists and small ensembles go along. These people have also brought home their share of A ratings.

Honor Society

The purpose of the Alice T. Daly Chapter of the National Honor Society is to stimulate a desire to render service, to encourage the development of character, and to create an enthusiasm for scholarship in the pupils of the Rhinebeck Central School.

Membership tappings for the Society are held at the beginning of each semester. Seniors who have an average of eighty-five are chosen in the fall, and juniors with the same average are selected after the mid-year examinations. Plans are being made to include qualified sophomores as provisional members of the group.

This year the activities of the Society have included a semi-formal dance and the production of a school handbook.

Proscenium Society

The Proscenium Society, once more faced with a stage barren of every facility except talented students, had a fine season. In October, amid a welter of melting hoses, flaked paint, and steaming canvas, the ancient scenery was given a new lease on life to become Celestine Hatcher's living room ("Call it what you like!").

Three seniors, Wheeler, Van Auken, and Nixon, set a historical precedent for R.C.S. by making this year's production their third major role. For Walt Taylor and Alan Chlystun, it was their second appearance. It is for this type of versatile, competent, and cheerful cooperation that directors of high school dramatics most often pray. When the curtain closed this year, standards had been sat which future classes will be hard-pressed to match . . .

Senior Play

CELESTINE CROSSES OVER was presented by the senior class and the Proscenium Society on November 16, 1962. This comedy begins with the arrival of David Hatcher, a modern educator, at the sleepy New England town of Green Falls. His first step as the new principal of the high school is to propose an educational program of the most progressive type. This program immediately meets opposition from the ghost of Celestine Hatcher, the former principal, and Arnold Teague, the president of the school board. The play proceeds as more ghosts, a witch, and a psychiatrist arrive on the scene. At last, differences are settled, the ghosts depart into the Great Beyond, and the new principal, his progressive ideas somewhat tempered by the old-fashioned ways of the town, remains to run the school.

CELESTINE: "Goodbye, goodbye, all of you."

CELESTINE: "I shall recite from memory . . ."

SARAH CUSTARD: "My fee, sonny."

DAVID: "Doctor, are you all right?"
DR. MEREDITH: "Yes, I think so . . ."

Future Teachers of America

The F.T.A., Future Teachers of America, was organized at R.C.S. in 1961, under the guidance of Mrs. Cleo Ficke. Its purpose is to promote an interest in teaching as a career. Membership in the group is open to all students in grades ten through twelve.

The club's major objective this year was an expansion of its Student Teaching-Learning Program. Under this program members visited different classrooms in an effort to gain first hand information about various teaching techniques. They also had an opportunity to assume charge of study halls, take attendance in homerooms, and familiarize themselves with the complexities of register keeping.

This group deserves high praise for the progress it has made during the two years of its existence.

G. O. Council

The purpose of the General Organization of R.C.S., as stated in its constitution, is "to promote the general welfare of all the students in their contacts with each other and with other schools; to promote social activities, regulate extracurricular activities, administer those phases of school life not under direct authority of the faculty or administration; and to foster a better and more widely spread school spirit."

The legislative body of the organization is known as the G.O. Council. Its membership includes the President and Vice President of the G.O., the president of each class, and the G.O. representatives who are selected from each homeroom. The G.O. President is automatically the president of the G.O. Council. The club's advisor is Mr. Erwin Kane.

The purpose of this group and that of the G.O. are synonymous. It achieves this purpose, in part, by supporting spectator buses for athletic events, choosing paid assemblies for the coming year, supervising G.O. parties, and lending money to indigent clubs of the school.

The chief sources of revenue of the G.O. are the monies obtained from the sale of G.O. cards and the annual magazine campaign. The council supervises both activities.

No other student organization is of greater importance to the school and none deserves greater support.

Audio-Visual Club

All students in grades seven through twelve are eligible for membership in the Audio-Visual Club, an organization which is at work every day of the school year.

Under the direction of Mr. Maxwell Knapp, club members are trained to show classroom films, prepare tapes for the language lab, and operate the phonographs which help provide dance music at noontime and G.O. parties. By means of these activities, this group renders a real service to every member of the student body and faculty.

Varsity Club

The Varsity Club, the latest addition to Rhinebeck Central's list of student organizations, was begun this fall under the guidance of Coach Sartori. Membership in the group is open to any boy who has earned a varsity letter in basketball, soccer, baseball, or track.

The purpose of the club is to provide its members with an opportunity to promote an interest in the entire sports program and in other school functions as well. This year the boys sold tickets at basketball games, ushered at the senior play, and joined the members of the Girls' Athletic Association in the sponsoring of "Splish Splash," an informal dance. This impressive beginning augurs well for the future success of the Varsity Club.

Girls' Athletic Association

The G.A.A. is devoted to promoting a spirit of fair play and good sportsmanship among the girls of the school. An adjunct of the organization is the Officals Club, in which members are taught the rudiments of officiating, scoring and time keeping for various team sports.

The club's activities include the awarding of medals, letters, and certificates to participants in athletic events, the presentation of an annual dance, and the sponsoring of an outing, such as a picnic or campout.

Soccer Team

After posting an enviable record of ten wins and two defeats in regular season play, the Indians, in a closely fought game with Roosevelt, succeeded in copping the Dutchess County Scholastic League crown.

The soccer squad's outstanding achievements were a source of pride, not only for the players themselves, but for every other member of the student body as well.

Varsity Basketball Team

The varsity five met some very hard competition this year from such teams as Pine Plains and Red Hook. Nevertheless, a mid-season rally brought Rhinebeck up to its accustomed place near the top.

Fans can look forward to an interesting season next year, with the return of Bill Myron, Duffy White, and high scoring Don Gmiener.

J.V. Basketball Team

The 1962-63 J.V. squad, playing an exciting, fast brand of basketball established a fine record for itself.
The season was highlighted by a victory over Pine Plains and by the consistently excellent play of John Cullen, Paul Ruge, and John Kane.
With this experience and their obvious ability, the members of this team should give Rhinebeck some great games in the next year.

1962 Baseball Team

The local nine provided fans with a number of exciting moments last spring. Among the season's highlights were Bob Hildreth's brilliant no-hitter, the nimble fielding of John Kane, and Duke Cullen's timely hitting. Perhaps nothing brought greater satisfaction to players and supporters alike however, than Rhinebeck's 6-2 victory over its traditional rival Red Hook, in the final contest of the year.

Girls' Basketball Team

The girls' sports program has been a particularly active one this year. Volleyball, field hockey, and basketball teams participated in hard-fought contests both at R.C.S. and at other area schools. The field hockey team enjoyed an especially successful season, losing to only one rival in interscholastic play.

The climax of the volleyball season was an All-County Play Day held at Wappingers Falls. Three teams from Rhinebeck, including the junior high school group, participated.

No aspect of the sports program was more gratifying to both supervisors and players than the success of the intramural contests. A number of well attended games were played in badminton, volleyball, basketball, and softball.

These activities give ample testimony of the spirit of cooperation and the enthusiasm which characterize the lady athletes of R.C.S.

YOU ASK . . .

You ask a question. When it is answered or solved, you have gained a bit of knowledge. Having gained that bit of knowledge, you ask more questions because every bit of knowledge implies new questions.

Though education never can be complete for any person; though education continually becomes, in fact, more and more incomplete as the questions one asks become more complex and numerous, it is not futile. It is no more futile than working for some great ideal such as freedom because each step forward is in itself a personal reward.

And the similarity between education and the quest for freedom goes further. Each step forward in education takes the thoughtful person a step closer to the greatest freedom of all -- the freedom from ignorance which is self-realization.

Education is always the beginning.

IBM takes great pleasure in congratulating all of this year's graduates and in wishing each of you a long and rewarding journey on the endless road to awakening. We bid you to look upon your graduation not as graduating FROM school but TO broader education and greater fulfillment.

Miss Rykowski,
Thanks for all the help on those crosswords. 4th period study hall wouldn't have been the same without yours. Good luck to a swell librarian.

Love 'n luck,
Carol Cole
